

About Protandim NRF2

Protandim is a unique supplement. Because it is able to provide so many health benefits by turning on your genes to make antioxidants and lower oxidative stress, I thought you would like to learn more about how it does that. Watch: <http://www.abcliveit.com/>

Because of the way it works at the genetic level, it is eliminating 1 million free radicals PER SECOND, so it is much more effective than other antioxidant supplements that work at a ratio of only 1:1. No other supplements or foods come close to doing this in the body!

And the longer you take it, the better results you get. This is a product you want to stay on for prevention of disease long-term.

How to Take Protandim: Take with either breakfast or dinner. Remember not to take tumeric, milk thistle, or green tea at the same time as you take Protandim because it will affect the effectiveness of the supplement. You can take it twice a day for even greater health benefits if you have a serious disease: take one tablet at breakfast, and one at dinner.

Some people have a temporary detox effect when they first start taking Protandim. If you notice anything, just cut the dosage down to 1/2 a tablet or 1/4 tablet and gradually work up over a few months.

Although I can never make medical claims, this product provides so many anti-aging, anti-cancer, and anti-inflammatory effects, it's a great thing to take for prevention of disease. Over 200 diseases are linked to inflammation and oxidative stress, which is why we've heard testimonials of people recovering from arthritis, fatigue, heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, MS, ALS, Parkinson's, cancer, etc...after being on this supplement for 6-12 months. It enables the body to heal itself! Testimonials: <http://www.docmarvin.com/medical-issues-calls/>

Based on what it does in the body (whether you feel it or not), this supplement is one you should stay on in order to reap the long term benefits.
